

River Ness Hotel

Luxury Hotel - Inverness, Scotland.

Previously the home of the Department of Work and Pensions in Inverness, this tired four story office block in the city centre was reinvigorated by Axcel Hospitality, transforming the building into a 76-bedroom hotel. Ri Cruden were responsible for all plumbing and mechanical requirements within the development of the hotel, including supply and installation of all pipework and ventilation systems.

The Works

- A variable refrigerant flow (VRF) system with mechanical ventilation, linked to a building management system, in cooperation with Elgin Refrigeration and CC North.
- Sanitary ware, with above ground drainage and hot and cold water pipework.
